Mark Scheme

English Language and Literature B

NTB1

Mark schemes are prepared by the Principal Examiner and considered, together with the relevant questions, by a panel of subject teachers. This mark scheme includes any amendments made at the standardisation meeting attended by all examiners and is the scheme which was used by them in this examination. The standardisation meeting ensures that the mark scheme covers the candidates' responses to questions and that every examiner understands and applies it in the same correct way. As preparation for the standardisation meeting each examiner analyses a number of candidates' scripts: alternative answers not already covered by the mark scheme are discussed at the meeting and legislated for. If, after this meeting, examiners encounter unusual answers which have not been discussed at the meeting they are required to refer these to the Principal Examiner.

It must be stressed that a mark scheme is a working document, in many cases further developed and expanded on the basis of candidates' reactions to a particular paper. Assumptions about future mark schemes on the basis of one year's document should be avoided; whilst the guiding principles of assessment remain constant, details will change, depending on the content of a particular examination paper.

January 2005NTB1*GENERAL PRINCIPLES

Assessment Unit 1 asks candidates to answer two questions based on a thematic Anthology that they take into the examination room. The first focuses on the prescribed poems in Section One of the Anthology; the second on the texts in Section Two of the Anthology. The first question requires candidates to answer on one named poem and one other of their choice from Section One. The second question will require candidates to answer on two texts of their own choice from Section Two of the Anthology. Candidates will usually be asked to answer on

- the language of the chosen texts
- the form, structure and genre of the chosen texts
- the ideas, attitudes and values conveyed by the texts

Examiners should first be aware of the relevant Assessment Objectives, as described in the specification and printed in the Mark Scheme. Candidates will be required to demonstrate achievement in these Assessment Objectives in their answers.

Candidates will be expected to demonstrate appropriate expertise in the following Main Criteria

- the application of linguistic frameworks to texts
- the description of how texts vary in form and structure
- the understanding and identification of how language, form and structure create and shape the meaning of texts
- the understanding and identification of the importance of context in creating and shaping the meaning of texts

The Main Criteria above and the AS English Language and Literature Marking Template pages that follow are the indicators that will guide examiners in judging how satisfactorily candidates have achieved these different Objectives.

Question 1 tests Assessment Objectives AO1, AO2i, AO3i, AO5

Question 2 tests Assessment Objectives AO1, AO2i, AO3i, AO4

AO1 communicate clearly the knowledge, understanding and insights gained from the combination of literary and linguistic study, using appropriate terminology and accurate written expression

AO2i in responding to literary and non-literary texts, distinguish, describe and interpret variation in meaning and form

AO3i respond to and analyse texts, using literary and linguistic concepts and approaches

AO4 show understanding of the ways contextual variation and choices of form, style and vocabulary shape the meaning of texts

AO5 identify and consider the ways attitudes and values are created and conveyed in speech and writing

The focus for each question is shown by some indicative content. It is, of course, possible that some candidates may respond in ways different to those listed, yet whose answers contain appropriate and valid insights. If examiners believe that such scripts satisfy criteria for high achievement, then those scripts should be rewarded accordingly. Examiners are encouraged at all times to mark positively, rewarding strengths and achievements.

Question 1 How do poets present the experience of being a pupil? Write about Carol Ann Duffy's Comprehensive and one other poem from Section One of the Anthology.

You should write about:

- how the language used conveys these experiences
- the poets' use of structure.

INDICATIVE CONTENT

NB. The following list of ideas is not exhaustive. Any valid suggestion supported by textual reference should be accepted.

Comprehensive

Experience:

- series of portraits of adolescent members of a multi-ethnic society
- barriers due to language, culture and religion
- institutionalised racism
- irony that the education portrayed here is not 'comprehensive'
- contrast between negativity of portrait of English children and the more positive depiction of the ethnic minority groups
- overall, a rather bleak view of 1980's England

Language used:

- attempts to create illusion of natural, colloquial speech through
- minor/simple sentences
- staccato delivery
- use of names, places, cultural and topical references to suggest authenticity
- use of slang, swearing, racist terminology
- pronouns (them, us, we, they) without clear referents to suggest division

Structure and form:

- seven separate stanzas for seven different speakers
- each speaker gives brief personal history and reveals personal and cultural values
- each speaker has different idiolect

Other poems

Not every poem in Section One of the Anthology is suitable to answer this question. Examiners should consider the appropriateness of candidates choices when assessing their work.

The most fruitful ones are likely to be:

The Play Way Them & [uz]
The Lesson
In which the Ancient History I learn...
Head of English

Question 2 Choose any two texts from Section Two of the Anthology which give an impression of what education was like in the past.

Look closely at the writers'/speakers' use of language and form. Show how these help to create impressions of education before 2005.

Almost every text in Section Two could be suitable to answer this question (with the possible exceptions of the transcripts of the lessons and the St Bede's Prospectus) and examiners should expect a variety of responses and approaches.

It is important, however, that candidates recognise that there are two parts to this question and that they should not concentrate on one to the exclusion of the other.

learning about education in the past:

We might expect to see answers that focus on

- content of lessons
- discipline and classroom management
- teachers' and educationalists' philosophies
- examinations
- types of school

language and form:

We might expect to see answers that focus on

- narrative, dialogue, description etc
- different genres and variations within these
- structure and organisation of content
- different purposes

MAIN CRITERIA FOR ANSWERS

Examiners should not require candidates to fulfil all the descriptors before they place a candidate in a particular mark band. They should use a ‘best fit’ model.

Examiners should also remember that they are marking the work of AS, not A, level candidates.

30 – 35 The best answers that can be expected of AS candidates under examination conditions.

- shows good and detailed understanding of the content of the texts
- shows good and detailed understanding of the context of the texts
- shows good and detailed understanding and analysis of how language in the texts works
- supports and develops points consistently with examples from or reference to the texts
- shows good and detailed understanding of attitudes conveyed in the texts
- consistently accurate use of language and terminology

24 – 29 Very good answers that display many of the qualities of the top band, but with some lack of consistency or thoroughness. Many more strengths than weaknesses.

- shows sound and clear understanding of the content of the texts
- shows sound and clear understanding of the context of the texts
- shows sound and clear understanding of how language in the texts works, including detailed discussion and analysis of some points
- develops most important points through examples from or reference to the texts
- shows sound and clear understanding of attitudes conveyed in the texts
- accurate use of language and terminology

18 – 23 Answers in which there is a balance of strengths and weaknesses

- understands the content of the texts
- understands the context of the texts
- shows understanding of how language in the texts works, including some detailed discussion and analysis of some points
- develops some important points through examples from or reference to the texts
- understanding of attitudes conveyed in the texts
- generally accurate use of language and terminology

12 – 17 Answers that address the question, but with a number of weaknesses

- shows some general understanding of the content of the texts
- shows some general understanding of the context of the texts
- includes some general discussion and understanding of language use in the texts
- some feature spotting
- may contain some description
- develops a number of points through examples from or reference to the texts
- some understanding of attitudes conveyed in the texts
- some accurate use of language and terminology

6 – 11 Answers that contain a significant number of weaknesses; may contain irrelevance or misunderstanding.

- includes some thin or sketchy discussion of the content of the texts
- includes some thin or sketchy discussion of the context of the texts
- includes some thin or sketchy discussion of language use in the texts
- reliant on feature spotting
- much more description than analysis
- includes little support from examples in or reference to the texts
- some limited comment on attitudes conveyed in the texts
- some inaccurate use of language and terminology

0 – 5 Answers that are little more than rudimentary and fail to address the question in any relevant manner. Fragmentary.

- shows no or rudimentary understanding of the content of the texts
- shows no or rudimentary understanding of the context of the texts
- includes no or rudimentary discussion of language use in the texts
- includes no or very little support from examples in or reference to the texts
- very rudimentary comment on attitudes conveyed in the texts
- very inaccurate use of language and terminology
