OTHELLO*Passage A

OTHELLO

O, my fair warrior!

DESDEMONA My dear Othello!

OTHELLO

It gives me wonder great as my content
 To see you here before me. O, my soul's joy!
 If after every tempest come such calms, 5
 May the winds blow till they have wakened death,
 And let the labouring bark climb hills of seas,
 Olympus-high, and duck again as low
 As hell's from heaven. If it were now to die,
 'Twere now to be most happy; for I fear 10
 My soul hath her content so absolute
 That not another comfort like to this
 Succeeds in unknown fate.

DESDEMONA The heavens forbid
 But that our loves and comforts should increase, 15
 Even as our days do grow.

OTHELLO Amen to that, sweet Powers!

I cannot speak enough of this content;
 It stops me here; it is too much of joy.
They kiss
 And this, and this the greatest discords be 20
 That e'er our hearts shall make.

IAGO (aside) O, you are well tuned now!
 But I'll set down the pegs that make this music,
 As honest as I am.

OTHELLO Come, let's to the castle. 25
 News, friends; our wars are done; the Turks are drowned.

How does my old acquaintance of this isle?
 Honey, you shall be well desired in Cyprus:
 I have found great love amongst them. O my sweet, 30
 I prattle out of fashion and I dote
 In mine own comforts. I prithee, good Iago,
 Go to the bay and disembark my coffers;
 Bring thou the Master to the citadel;
 He is a good one, and his worthiness 35
 Does challenge much respect. Come, Desdemona,
 Once more well met at Cyprus!

OTHELLO*Passage B

EMILIA

Sweet Desdemona, O sweet mistress, speak!

DESDEMONA

A guiltless death I die.

EMILIA

O, who hath done this deed?

DESDEMONA

Nobody – I myself – farewell.

Commend me to my kind lord – O, farewell! She dies 5

OTHELLO

EMILIA Alas, who knows?
 OTHELLO
 You heard her say herself it was not I.
 EMILIA
 She said so: I must needs report the truth.
 OTHELLO
 She's like a liar gone to burning hell: 10
 'Twas I that killed her.
 EMILIA O, the more angel she,
 And you the blacker devil!
 OTHELLO
 She turned to folly; and she was a whore.
 EMILIA
 Thou dost belie her, and thou art a devil. 15
 OTHELLO
 She was false as water.
 EMILIA Thou art rash as fire to say
 That she was false. O, she was heavenly true!
 OTHELLO
 Cassio did top her: ask thy husband else.
 O, I were damned beneath all depth in hell 20
 But that I did proceed upon just grounds
 To this extremity. Thy husband knew it all.
 EMILIA
 My husband!
 OTHELLO Thy husband.
 EMILIA That she was false to wedlock? 25
 OTHELLO
 Ay, with Cassio. Nay, had she been true,
 If heaven would make me such another world
 Of one entire and perfect chrysolite,
 I'd not have sold her for it.
 EMILIA My husband! 30
 OTHELLO
 Ay, 'twas he that told me on her first.
 An honest man he is, and hates the slime
 That sticks on filthy deeds.
 EMILIA My husband!
 OTHELLO
 What needs this iterance, woman? I say thy husband. 35
 EMILIA
 O mistress, villainy hath made mocks with love!
 My husband say that she was false?
 OTHELLO He, woman;
 I say thy husband; dost understand the word?
 My friend, thy husband, honest, honest Iago. 40
 EMILIA
 If he say so, may his pernicious soul
 Rot half a grain a day! He lies to th'heart.
 She was too fond of her most filthy bargain.
 OTHELLO
 Ha!
 EMILIA
 Do thy worst: 45
 This deed of thine is no more worthy heaven
 Than thou wert worthy her

*THE WINTER'S TALEPassage A

HERMIONE

Sir,
 You speak a language that I understand not.
 My life stands in the level of your dreams,
 Which I'll lay down.

LEONTES

Your actions are my dreams.

You had a bastard by Polixenes,
 And I but dreamed it. As you were past all shame –
 Those of your fact are so – so past all truth;
 Which to deny concerns more than avails: for as Thy brat hath been cast out, like to itself,
 No father owning it – which is indeed
 More criminal in thee than it – so thou
 Shalt feel our justice, in whose easiest passage
 Look for no less than death.

HERMIONE

Sir, spare your threats!

15

The bug which you would fright me with I seek.
 To me can life be no commodity:
 The crown and comfort of my life, your favour,
 I do give lost, for I do feel it gone,
 But know not how it went. My second joy,
 And first-fruits of my body, from his presence
 I am barred, like one infectious. My third comfort,
 Starred most unluckily, is from my breast –
 The innocent milk in its most innocent mouth –
 Haled out to murder. Myself on every post
 Proclaimed a strumpet; with immodest hatred
 The childbed privilege denied, which 'longs
 To women of all fashion; lastly, hurried
 Here to this place, i'th'open air, before
 I have got strength of limit. Now, my liege,
 Tell me what blessings I have here alive
 That I should fear to die. Therefore proceed.
 But yet hear this – mistake me not: no life,
 I prize it not a straw; but for mine honour,
 Which I would free – if I shall be condemned
 Upon surmises, all proofs sleeping else
 But what your jealousies awake, I tell you
 'Tis rigour and not law. Your honours all,
 I do refer me to the oracle:
 Apollo be my judge!

*THE WINTER'S TALEPassage B

LEONTES	Good Paulina, Who hast the memory of Hermione, I know, in honour, O that ever I Had squared me to thy counsel! Then even now I might have looked upon my queen's full eyes, Have taken treasure from her lips –	5
PAULINA	And left them More rich for what they yielded.
LEONTES	Thou speak'st truth. No more such wives, therefore no wife: one worse, And better used, would make her sainted spirit Again possess her corpse, and on this stage, Where we offenders move, appear soul-vexed, And begin, 'Why to me?'	10
PAULINA	Had she such power, She had just cause.	15
LEONTES	She had, and would incense me To murder her I married.
PAULINA	I should so. Were I the ghost that walked, I'd bid you mark Her eye, and tell me for what dull part in't You chose her; then I'd shriek, that even your ears Should rift to hear me; and the words that followed Should be 'Remember mine.'	20
LEONTES	Stars, stars, And all eyes else dead coals! Fear thou no wife; I'll have no wife, Paulina.	25
PAULINA	Will you swear Never to marry but by my free leave?
LEONTES	Never, Paulina, so be blest my spirit!	30
PAULINA	Then, good my lords, bear witness to his oath.
CLEOMENES	You tempt him over-much.
PAULINA	Unless another, As like Hermione as is her picture, Affront his eye.	35
CLEOMENES	Good madam –
PAULINA	I have done. Yet if my lord will marry – if you will, sir, No remedy, but you will – give me the office To choose you a queen: she shall not be so young As was your former, but she shall be such As, walked your first queen's ghost, it should take joy To see her in your arms.	40
LEONTES	My true Paulina, We shall not marry till thou bid'st us.	45
PAULINA	That Shall be when your first queen's again in breath; Never till then.

Passage A

DON PEDRO	Well, as time shall try: 'In time the savage bull doth bear the yoke.'
BENEDICK	The savage bull may; but if ever the sensible Benedick bear it, pluck off the bull's horns and set them in my forehead, and let me be vilely painted; and in such great letters as they write 'Here is good horse to hire', let them signify under my sign 'Here you may see Benedick the married man.'	5
CLAUDIO	If this should ever happen, thou wouldst be horn-mad.	10
DON PEDRO	Nay, if Cupid have not spent all his quiver in Venice, thou wilt quake for this shortly.
BENEDICK	I look for an earthquake too, then.
DON PEDRO	Well, you will temporize with the hours. In the meantime, good Signor Benedick, repair to Leonato's, commend me to him and tell him I will not fail him at supper; for indeed he hath made great preparation.	15
BENEDICK	I have almost matter enough in me for such an embassy; and so I commit you –	20
CLAUDIO	To the tuition of God. From my house, if I had it –
DON PEDRO	The sixth of July. Your loving friend, Benedick.
BENEDICK	Nay, mock not, mock not. The body of your discourse is sometime guarded with fragments, and the guards are but slightly basted on neither. Ere you flout old ends any further, examine your conscience; and so I leave you. Exit	25
CLAUDIO	My liege, your highness now may do me good.	30
DON PEDRO	My love is thine to teach; teach it but how, And thou shalt see how apt it is to learn Any hard lesson that may do thee good.
CLAUDIO	Hath Leonato any son, my lord?
DON PEDRO	No child but Hero; she's his only heir. Dost thou affect her, Claudio?	35
CLAUDIO	O, my lord, When you went onward on this ended action, I looked upon her with a soldier's eye, That liked, but had a rougher task in hand Than to drive liking to the name of love; But now I am returned and that war-thoughts Have left their places vacant, in their rooms Come thronging soft and delicate desires, All prompting me how fair young Hero is, Saying I liked her ere I went to wars.	40       45

MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING

Passage B

LEONATO

Come, cousin, I am sure you love the gentleman.

CLAUDIO

And I'll be sworn upon't that he loves her,
For here's a paper written in his hand,
A halting sonnet of his own pure brain,
Fashioned to Beatrice.

HERO

And here's another
Writ in my cousin's hand, stolen from her pocket,
Containing her affection unto Benedick.

BENEDICK A miracle! Here's our own hands against our hearts. Come, I will have thee; but, by this light, I take thee for pity.

10

BEATRICE I would not deny you; but, by this good day, I yield upon great persuasion; and partly to save your life, for I was told you were in a consumption.

BENEDICK (kissing her) Peace! I will stop your mouth.

DON PEDRO How dost thou, Benedick the married man?

BENEDICK I'll tell thee what, Prince; a college of wit-crackers cannot flout me out of my humour. Dost thou think I care for a satire or an epigram? No; if a man will be beaten with brains, 'a shall wear nothing handsome about him. In brief, since I do purpose to marry, I will think nothing to any purpose that the world can say against it; and therefore never flout at me for what I have said against it; for man is a giddy thing, and this is my conclusion. For thy part, Claudio, I did think to have beaten thee; but in that thou art like to be my kinsman, live unbruised and love my cousin.

CLAUDIO I had well hoped thou wouldst have denied Beatrice, that I might have cudgelled thee out of thy single life, to make thee a double-dealer; which out of question thou wilt be, if my cousin do not look exceeding narrowly to thee.

30

BENEDICK Come, come, we are friends. Let's have a dance ere we are married, that we may lighten our own hearts and our wives' heels.

35

LEONATO We'll have dancing afterward.

BENEDICK First, of my word; therefore play, music.
Prince, thou art sad; get thee a wife, get thee a wife.
There is no staff more reverend than one tipped with horn.

*A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAMPassage A

LYSANDER
Ay me! For aught that I could ever read, Could ever hear by tale or history, The course of true love never did run smooth; But either it was different in blood –
HERMIA
O cross! – too high to be enthralled to low.	5
LYSANDER
Or else misgraffèd in respect of years –
HERMIA
O spite! – too old to be engaged to young.
LYSANDER
Or else it stood upon the choice of friends –
HERMIA
O hell! – to choose love by another's eyes.
LYSANDER
Or if there were a sympathy in choice,	10
War, death, or sickness did lay siege to it, Making it momentary as a sound, Swift as a shadow, short as any dream, Brief as the lightning in the collied night, That in a spleen unfolds both heaven and earth,	15
And – ere a man hath power to say 'Behold!' – The jaws of darkness do devour it up. So quick bright things come to confusion.
HERMIA
If then true lovers have been ever crossed It stands as an edict in destiny.	20
Then let us teach our trial patience, Because it is a customary cross, As due to love as thoughts, and dreams, and sighs, Wishes, and tears – poor fancy's followers.
LYSANDER
A good persuasion. Therefore hear me, Hermia:	25
I have a widow aunt, a dowager, Of great revenue; and she hath no child. From Athens is her house remote seven leagues; And she respects me as her only son.
There, gentle Hermia, may I marry thee;	30
And to that place the sharp Athenian law Cannot pursue us. If thou lovest me, then Steal forth thy father's house tomorrow night, And in the wood, a league without the town – Where I did meet thee once with Helena	35
To do observance to a morn of May – There will I stay for thee.
HERMIA
My good Lysander,
I swear to thee by Cupid's strongest bow, By his best arrow with the golden head, By the simplicity of Venus' doves, By that which knitteth souls and prospers loves, And by that fire which burned the Carthage queen When the false Trojan under sail was seen, By all the vows that ever men have broke –	40
In number more than ever women spoke, – In that same place thou hast appointed me	45

THE COUNTRY WIFE

Passage A

- PINCHWIFE (Aside)
I'll answer as I should do. – No, no, she has no beauty but her youth; no attraction but her modesty; wholesome, homely, and housewifely, that's all.
- DORILANT
He talks as like a grazier as he looks.
- PINCHWIFE
She's too awkward, ill-favoured, and silly to bring to town. 5
- HORNER
Then methinks you should bring her, to be taught breeding.
- PINCHWIFE
To be taught! No, sir, I thank you. Good wives and private soldiers should be ignorant. [Aside] I'll keep her from your instructions, I warrant you. 10
- HARCOURT (Aside)
The rogue is as jealous as if his wife were not ignorant.
- HORNER
Why, if she be ill-favoured, there will be less danger here for you than by leaving her in the country. We have such variety of dainties that we are seldom hungry. 15
- DORILANT
But they have always coarse, constant, swingeing stomachs in the country.
- HARCOURT
Foul feeders indeed.
- DORILANT
And your hospitality is great there.
- HARCOURT
Open house, every man's welcome! 20
- PINCHWIFE
So, so, gentlemen.
- HORNER
But, prithee, why would'st thou marry her? If she be ugly, ill-bred, and silly, she must be rich then?
- PINCHWIFE
As rich as if she brought me twenty thousand pound out of this town; for she'll be as sure not to spend her moderate portion as a London baggage would be to spend hers, let it be what it would; so 'tis all one. Then, because she's ugly, she's the likelier to be my own; and being ill-bred, she'll hate conversation; and since silly and innocent, will not know the difference betwixt a man of one-and-twenty and one of forty. 25 30
- HORNER
Nine – to my knowledge; but if she be silly, she'll expect as much from a man of forty-nine as from him of one-and-twenty. But methinks wit is more necessary than beauty; and I think no young woman ugly that has it, and no handsome woman agreeable without it. 35
- PINCHWIFE
'Tis my maxim, he's a fool that marries, but he's a greater fool that does not marry a fool. What is wit in a wife

*THE COUNTRY WIFEPassage B

ALITHEA

Sister, what ails you? You are grown melancholy.

MRS PINCHWIFE

Would it not make anyone melancholy, to see you go every day fluttering about abroad, whilst I must stay at home like a poor lonely sullen bird in a cage?

ALITHEA

Ay, sister, but you came young and just from the nest to your cage, so that I thought you liked it; and could be as cheerful in't as others that took their flight themselves early, and are hopping abroad in the open air.

MRS PINCHWIFE

Nay, I confess I was quiet enough till my husband told me what pure lives the London ladies live abroad, with their dancing, meetings, and junketings, and dressed every day in their best gowns; and I warrant you, play at ninepins every day of the week, so they do.

10

Enter PINCHWIFE

PINCHWIFE

Come, what's here to do? You are putting the town pleasures in her head, and setting her a-longing.

15

ALITHEA

Yes, after ninepins! You suffer none to give her those longings you mean, but yourself.

PINCHWIFE

I tell her of the vanities of the town like a confessor.

ALITHEA

A confessor! Just such a confessor as he that, by forbidding a silly ostler to grease the horse's teeth, taught him to do't.

20

PINCHWIFE

Come, Mistress Flippant, good precepts are lost when bad examples are still before us. The liberty you take abroad makes her hanker after it, and out of humour at home. Poor wretch! she desired not to come to London; I would bring her.

ALITHEA

Very well.

25

PINCHWIFE

She has been this week in town, and never desired, till this afternoon, to go abroad.

ALITHEA

Was she not at a play yesterday?

PINCHWIFE

Yes, but she ne'er asked me. I was myself the cause of her going.

30

ALITHEA

Then, if she ask you again, you are the cause of her asking, and not my example.

PINCHWIFE

Well, tomorrow night I shall be rid of you; and the next day, before 'tis light, she and I'll be rid of the town, and my dreadful apprehensions. Come, be not melancholy, for thou shalt go into the country after tomorrow, dearest.

35

ALITHEA

Great comfort!

MRS PINCHWIFE

Pish! what d'ye tell me of the country for?

PINCHWIFE

How's this? What, pish at the country?

MRS PINCHWIFE

Let me alone, I am not well.

40

PINCHWIFE

O, if that be all – what ails my dearest?

MRS PINCHWIFE

From Middlemarch, by George Eliot.

The 'he' who is referred to in the first sentence of the extract is Mr. Lydgate.

“You refer to the possible hindrances from want of health?” he said, wishing to help forward Mr. Casaubon’s purpose, which seemed to be clogged by some hesitation.

“I do. You have not implied to me that the symptoms which—I am bound to testify—you watched with scrupulous care, were those of a fatal disease. But were it so, Mr. Lydgate, I should desire to know the truth without reservation, and I appeal to you for an exact statement of your conclusions: I request it as a friendly service. If you can tell me that my life is not threatened by anything else than ordinary casualties, I shall rejoice, on grounds which I have already indicated. If not, knowledge of the truth is even more important to me.” 5 10

“Then I can no longer hesitate as to my course,” said Lydgate; “but the first thing I must impress on you is that my conclusions are doubly uncertain—uncertain not only because of my fallibility, but because diseases of the heart are eminently difficult to found predictions on. In any case, one can hardly increase appreciably the tremendous uncertainty of life.” 15

Mr. Casaubon winced perceptibly, but bowed.

“I believe that you are suffering from what is called fatty degeneration of the heart, a disease which was first divined and explored by Laennec, the man who gave us the stethoscope, not so very many years ago. A good deal of experience—a more lengthened observation—is wanted on the subject. But after what you have said, it is my duty to tell you that death from this disease is often sudden. At the same time, no such result can be predicted. Your condition may be consistent with a tolerably comfortable life for another fifteen years, or even more. I could add no information to this, beyond anatomical or medical details, which would leave expectation at precisely the same point.” 20 25

Lydgate’s instinct was fine enough to tell him that plain speech, quite free from ostentatious caution, would be felt by Mr. Casaubon as a tribute of respect. 30

“I thank you, Mr. Lydgate,” said Mr. Casaubon, after a moment’s pause. “One thing more I have still to ask: did you communicate what you have now told me to Mrs. Casaubon?”

“Partly—I mean, as to the possible issues.” Lydgate was going to explain why he had told Dorothea, but Mr. Casaubon, with an unmistakable desire to end the conversation, waved his hand slightly, and said again, “I thank you,” proceeding to remark on the rare beauty of the day. 35

Lydgate, certain that his patient wished to be alone, soon left him; and the black figure with hands behind and head bent forward continued to pace the walk where the dark yew-trees gave him a mute companionship in melancholy, and the little shadows of bird or leaf that fledged across the isles of sunlight, stole along in silence as in the presence of a sorrow. 40
