The Struggle for Identity in Modern Literature

Post-Standardisation

Mark Scheme

Mark schemes are prepared by the Principal Examiner and considered, together with the relevant questions, by a panel of subject teachers. This mark scheme includes any amendments made at the standardisation events which all examiners participate in and is the scheme which was used by them in this examination. The standardisation process ensures that the mark scheme covers the candidates' responses to questions and that every examiner understands and applies it in the same correct way. As preparation for standardisation each examiner analyses a number of candidates' scripts: alternative answers not already covered by the mark scheme are discussed and legislated for. If, after the standardisation process, examiners encounter unusual answers which have not been raised they are required to refer these to the Principal Examiner.

It must be stressed that a mark scheme is a working document, in many cases further developed and expanded on the basis of candidates' reactions to a particular paper. Assumptions about future mark schemes on the basis of one year's document should be avoided; whilst the guiding principles of assessment remain constant, details will change, depending on the content of a particular examination paper.

The Assessment Objectives

- Assessment in English Literature is unlike that in most other subjects where Assessment
  Objectives can be assessed discretely.
- Experience of examining in this subject and research conducted into how candidates approach answering questions show that there is never an occasion where one can assess a single Assessment Objective discretely.
- Some Assessment Objectives, such as AO1 and AO2, are present in all questions on this paper.
- In this paper, some Assessment Objectives have different weightings in different questions.
- The specification and its units have been constructed and the questions have been framed so that the Assessment Objectives are targeted in the proportions set out in the specification and reprinted below.

Weighting of Assessment Objectives for AS

The table below shows the approximate weighting of each of the Assessment Objectives in the AS units.

Assessment Objectives	Unit We	Unit Weightings (%)		Overall weighting
	Unit 1		Unit 2		of AOs (%)
AO1	12		12		24
AO2	18		14		32
AO3	12		10		22
AO4	18		4		22
Overall weighting of units	60		40		100

Weighting of Assessment Objectives for this paper

The table below shows the Assessment Objectives tested by each question and the approximate numbers of marks available.

Assessment Objectives	Question Weightings (by mark)
	Question 1 Questions
AO1	3	15
AO2	12	15
AO3	3	15
AO4	27
Overall weighting of questions	45	45

How to use the Grids and the marking scheme

- For each question in this unit, in addition to the Assessment Objectives common to all questions (AOs1 and 2), there is a key Assessment Objective which should be used in the first stage of assessing the answer. For Question 1, this is AO4; for all set text questions, this is AO3.
- Having placed the answer in a band of the grid, move on to verify this mark by considering the other relevant AO columns (AOs 1, 2 and 3 for Question1; AOs 1 and 2 for the set text questions).
- This is a skills-based mark scheme. The whole specification is designed to encourage the development of the autonomous reader. In the coursework, this is encouraged through teachers/candidates taking responsibility for choice of text and construction of task. In the examination, candidates are invited to answer questions which present unprepared material and require reference to individualised wider reading (like the context question here) and open questions which invite the candidate to make their own selection of the poems they wish to write about (as in the poetry set text question).

It is therefore the candidate who sets the agenda and chooses the relevant material with which to answer the question. The examiner will be judging the appropriateness, the relevance and the accuracy of those choices.

CONTEXTUAL LINKING

01. Read the following extract carefully. It is taken from a written statement made to a Nigerian Military Court by the writer, Ken Saro-Wiwa. An activist for the Ogoni people of the Niger Delta, he was on trial for anti-government protests. He had previously criticised foreign companies who were extracting oil from Nigeria's Delta region. Saro-Wiwa was executed a short time after making this statement, submitted in November 1995.

How does the writer present his thoughts and feelings about the struggle for identity?

How far is the extract similar to and different from your wider reading about the struggle for identity in modern literature? You should consider the writers' choices of form, structure and language, as well as subject matter.

FOCUS Extract and all reading in literature about the Struggle for Identity (SFI).

KEY WORDS Thoughts and feelings, similar to, different from, form, structure and language.

INDICATIVE CONTENT:

Analysis of article - Subject Matter: personal struggle in the face of intimidation and repression; bullying of the villagers and local tribes people; families and children; environmental exploration; call for solidarity and unity across tribal or local divides; emphasis on political corruption and the complicity of the entire structure of powerful society and organizations; an angry, articulate militant's perspective; passing on the torch of responsibility.

Form, structure and language: formal, descriptive, complex; rhetorical and valedictory; literary vocabulary; religious references; powerful use of pronouns that highlight universal struggle and individual courage; warning tone; 'willing martyr's' oratorical but resigned tones(?); strongly derogatory expressions and imagery; emotive expressions; visceral language, cyclical structure commencing and ending with reminder of history, invocation of God as higher witness and judge of individual conscience.

Possible links to wider reading:

Candidate to find links in terms of both similarity and difference with wider reading:

- writing about social issues (in prose, poetry and drama)
- other views of equality, self-determination, self-sacrifice and political resistance
- other descriptions of oppression, environment, family, community and political dissent
- other letters/statements/public appeals/addresses

And still I Rise - Maya Angelou

02. Angelou has said 'I gave birth to one child, a son, but I have thousands of daughters.'

To what extent do you agree that Angelou's poetry presents the female struggle for identity more effectively than the male struggle?

In your answer you should either refer to two or three poems in detail or range more widely through the whole collection.

FOCUS given view, two or three poems, whole text

KEYWORDS to what extent agree, Angelou's poetry presents female more effectively than male.

INDICATIVE CONTENT

To produce a balanced debate, the candidate's choice of poetry should include both poems that support the idea that Angelou's poetry is more reflective of the female struggle for identity and poems that reveal contrasting aspects of her writing.

- supporting poems might include 'Phenomenal Woman', 'Just For A Time', 'Lady Luncheon Club', 'Women Work' and 'Kin'.
- a counter-argument could be provided by poems with no explicit reference to female struggle, more reference to male struggle or those that appear gender neutral eg 'Country Lover', 'Remembrance', 'Where We Belong, A Duet', 'Men', 'California Prodigal', 'Willie', 'Ain't That Bad?' or even 'Thank You, Lord'.
- candidates who read closely will perhaps evaluate the effects created by references that transcend gender in 'Refusal', 'Junkie Monkey Reel', 'To Beat the Child Was Bad Enough', 'One More Round' and even strongly assertive poems like 'Still I Rise' and 'Life Doesn't Frighten Me'.

And still I Rise - Maya Angelou

3. 'Ain't That Bad?' can be seen as Angelou's best expression of her pride in her African-American ethnicity.

To what extent do you agree that 'Ain't That Bad?' is Angelou's most powerful exploration of pride in African-American identity?

In your answer you should consider form, structure and language, as well as subject matter.

FOCUS 'Ain't That Bad?' / whole text

KEYWORDS To what extent do you feel, 'Ain't That Bad?', best expression of pride, form, structure, language, subject matter.

- analysis of 'Ain't That Bad?', featuring relevant comment on subject matter (eg references to typical features of African-American lifestyle, appearance and culture; the naming of African-American role models) and style (eg lyric form; simple language; colloquial expression; repetitions and chorus effect; Angelou as undefeated rhetorician).
- links to other poems showing how they do/do not better show pride in the experiences of a 'person of color': poems with similar subject matter (eg, 'Still I Rise', 'Willie', 'Thank You, Lord') or with similar style (eg, 'Phenomenal Woman', 'Through the Inner City to the Suburbs').
- Counter-arguments, based on those elements of Angelou's writing about ethnic pride not captured in 'Ain't That Bad?' or with some hint of criticism of African-American types (eg, 'A Kind of Love, Some Say', 'Men', or even 'Kin'). Success will depend on how the examples are used to produce a balanced debate.

The World's Wife - Carol Ann Duffy

04. 'If violence is a human failing, it is a liberating one that is not specific to the male gender.'

How far do you agree that Duffy's main objective is to explore the nature and purpose of female violence in The World's Wife?

In your answer you should either refer to two or three poems in detail or range more widely through the whole collection.

FOCUS given view, two or three poems, whole text

KEYWORDS how far you agree, main aim, Duffy explores, nature and purpose, female violence

- to produce a balanced debate, the candidate's choice of poetry should include both poems that explore the nature and purpose of female violence and poems which show other emotions or are more focused on the exploration of male violence
- poems exploring female violence might include 'Delilah', 'The Devil's Wife', 'Mrs Beast', 'Circe', Queen Herod' and 'The Kray Sisters'
- a counter argument could be provided by poems such as 'Anne Hathaway', 'Demeter', 'Pilate's Wife' and 'Queen Kong'
- candidates who read closely will perhaps argue the motives of the females in the poems and those of Duffy herself as well as presenting arguments that refuse to polarise the genders.

The World's Wife - Carol Ann Duffy

05. 'Demeter' is the last poem in the collection.

To what extent do you agree that this poem is an effective conclusion to The World's Wife?

In your answer you should consider form, structure and language as well as subject matter.

FOCUS 'Demeter' / whole text

KEYWORDS To what extent do you feel, effective conclusion, form, structure, language, subject matter.

- analysis of 'Demeter', featuring relevant comment on subject matter (eg Demeter's reflections on the past and the present; the passage of time; ideas about the freedom of the spirit and female symbolism; grief and recovery) form, structure and language (eg stanzaic form; sonnet; natural imagery and pathetic fallacy; possibly autobiographical voice?).
- links to other poems show effectiveness as a conclusion; poems with similar subject matter (eg, 'Anne Hathaway', 'Queen Kong', 'Queen Herod') or with similar style (eg 'Anne Hathaway' or possibly 'Frau Freud')
- counter-arguments, based on those elements of Duffy's writing not present in 'Demeter' are used to produce a balanced debate: eg 'Salome', 'Circe', 'The Devil's Wife' or 'Eurydice'.

Skirrid Hill - Owen Sheers

06. A critic has written that Sheers' poetry 'hurts like a badly healed wound'

How far do you agree that Sheers' poetry is preoccupied with pain?

FOCUS Critic's view of Sheers' poetry / two or three poems, whole text

KEYWORDS how far do you agree, hurts, badly healed wound

- to produce a balanced debate, the candidate's choice of poetry should include both poems that support the critic's view and poems that feature other aspects of Sheers' writing
- poems in support of the critic might include those in which Sheers explores the pain of relationships and separations (eg 'Marking Time', 'Amazon', 'On Going', 'Border Country', 'Keyways', 'Y Gaer', 'The Wake', 'The Hill Fort' and 'Liable to Floods') or those in which he presents arguably more positive outcomes (eg 'Song', 'Valentine', 'Winter Swans', 'The Equation', 'Shadow Man' and 'Swallows'.)
- counter-arguments could be provided by reference to the poems that explore the traditional crafts of the artisan in a celebration of manual labour or those that extol the healing power of nature on the human soul (eg 'The Farrier', 'Intermission', 'Service', 'Stitch in Time' or 'The Singing Men'.) Alternative readings of poems is the poetry 'painful to read', or is it that it's about pain?

07. Remind yourself of the poem 'Inheritance'

To what extent do you agree that this poem is of central importance to this collection?

In your answer you should consider form, structure and language, as well as subject matter.

FOCUS 'Inheritance'/ whole text

KEYWORDS To what extent do you agree, of central importance, form, structure, subject matter.

- analysis of 'Inheritance', featuring relevant comment on subject matter (eg Sheers' interest in words that arrest attention and create a stir, features of the land and the nature of the elements; ideas about pain in the pleasure; pride in labour and the resilience of relationships) and style (eg stanzaic form; poetic language with the use of harsh and softer aspects of nature; confessional and intimate tones; powerful metaphors that extend to shape the stanzas)
- links to other poems will support the idea of the use Sheers makes of his close family relationships, natural imagery, pride in nation and heritage: poems with similar subject matter (eg, 'Landmark', 'Flag', 'Farther', 'The Wake', 'Amazon', 'History' or 'Skirrid Fawr') or with similarly unusual style (eg 'Keyways', 'Marking Time' or 'The Equation')
- counter-arguments, based on those poems in which Sheers moves away from the intensely personal, familial, or national: eg those set beyond Wales/England borders ('The Singing Men', 'The Fishmonger', 'Drinking with Hitler', 'Happy Accidents', 'Stitch in Time', 'L. A. Evening' and 'Under the Superstition Mountains') or those that transcend time and place such as 'Swallows', 'Calendar' and 'Song'.
