Mark Scheme

Mark schemes are prepared by the Principal Examiner and considered, together with the relevant questions, by a panel of subject teachers. This mark scheme includes any amendments made at the standardisation events which all examiners participate in and is the scheme which was used by them in this examination. The standardisation process ensures that the mark scheme covers the students' responses to questions and that every examiner understands and applies it in the same correct way. As preparation for standardisation each examiner analyses a number of students' scripts: alternative answers not already covered by the mark scheme are discussed and legislated for. If, after the standardisation process, examiners encounter unusual answers which have not been raised they are required to refer these to the Principal Examiner.

It must be stressed that a mark scheme is a working document, in many cases further developed and expanded on the basis of students' reactions to a particular paper. Assumptions about future mark schemes on the basis of one year's document should be avoided; whilst the guiding principles of assessment remain constant, details will change, depending on the content of a particular examination paper.

Generic Introduction for AS

The AS History specification is based on the assessment objectives laid down in QCA's GCE History subject criteria and published in the AQA specification booklet. These cover the skills, knowledge and understanding which are expected of A Level candidates. Most questions address more than one objective since historical skills, which include knowledge and understanding, are usually deployed together. Consequently, the marking scheme which follows is a 'levels of response' scheme and assesses students' historical skills in the context of their knowledge and understanding of History.

The levels of response are a graduated recognition of how students have demonstrated their abilities in the Assessment Objectives. Students who predominantly address AO1(a) by writing narrative or description will perform at Level 1 or Level 2 depending on its relevance. Students who provide more explanation – (AO1(b), supported by the relevant selection of material, AO1(a)) – will perform at high Level 2 or low-mid Level 3 depending on how explicit they are in their response to the question. Students who provide explanation with evaluation, judgement and an awareness of historical interpretations will be addressing all 3 AOs (AO1(a); AO1(b); AO2(a) and (b) and will have access to the higher mark ranges. AO2(a) which requires the evaluation of source material is assessed in Unit 2.

Differentiation between Levels 3, 4 and 5 is judged according to the extent to which students meet this range of assessment objectives. At Level 3 the answers will show more characteristics of the AO1 objectives, although there should be elements of AO2. At Level 4, AO2 criteria, particularly an understanding of how the past has been interpreted, will be more in evidence and this will be even more dominant at Level 5. The demands on written communication, particularly the organisation of ideas and the use of specialist vocabulary also increase through the various levels so that a student performing at the highest AS level is already well prepared for the demands of A2.

CRITERIA FOR MARKING GCE HISTORY:

AS EXAMINATION PAPERS

General Guidance for Examiners (to accompany Level Descriptors)

Deciding on a level and the award of marks within a level

It is of vital importance that examiners familiarise themselves with the generic mark scheme and apply it consistently, as directed by the Principal Examiner, in order to facilitate comparability across options.

The indicative mark scheme for each paper is designed to illustrate some of the material that students might refer to (knowledge) and some of the approaches and ideas they might develop (skills). It is not, however, prescriptive and should only be used to exemplify the generic mark scheme.

When applying the generic mark scheme, examiners will constantly need to exercise judgement to decide which level fits an answer best. Few essays will display all the characteristics of a level, so deciding the most appropriate will always be the first task.

Each level has a range of marks and for an essay which has a strong correlation with the level descriptors the middle mark should be given. However, when an answer has some of the characteristics of the level above or below, or seems stronger or weaker on comparison with many other students' responses to the same question, the mark will need to be adjusted up or down.

When deciding on the mark within a level, the following criteria should be considered in relation to the level descriptors. Students should never be doubly penalised. If a student with poor communication skills has been placed in Level 2, he or she should not be moved to the bottom of the level on the basis of the poor quality of written communication. On the other hand, a student with similarly poor skills, whose work otherwise matched the criteria for Level 4 should be adjusted downwards within the level.

Criteria for deciding marks within a level:

- The accuracy of factual information
- The level of detail
- The depth and precision displayed
- The quality of links and arguments
- The quality of written communication (grammar, spelling, punctuation and legibility; an appropriate form and style of writing; clear and coherent organisation of ideas, including the use of specialist vocabulary)
- Appropriate references to historical interpretation and debate
- The conclusion

GCE AS History Unit 1: Change and Consolidation

HIS1C: The Reformation in Europe, c1500–1564

Question 1

01 Explain why Luther was summoned to the Diet of Worms. (12 marks)

Target: AO1(a), AO1(b)

Generic Mark Scheme

Nothing written worthy of credit. 0

L1: Answers will contain either some descriptive material which is only loosely linked to the focus of the question or some explicit comment with little, if any, appropriate support. Answers are likely to be generalised and assertive. The response will be limited in development and skills of written communication will be weak. 1-2

L2: Answers will demonstrate some knowledge and understanding of the demands of the question. They will either be almost entirely descriptive with few explicit links to the question or they will provide some explanations backed by evidence that is limited in range and/or depth. Answers will be coherent but weakly expressed and/or poorly structured. 3-6

L3: Answers will demonstrate good understanding of the demands of the question providing relevant explanations backed by appropriately selected information, although this may not be full or comprehensive. Answers will, for the most part, be clearly expressed and show some organisation in the presentation of material. 7-9

L4: Answers will be well-focused, identifying a range of specific explanations, backed by precise evidence and demonstrating good understanding of the connections and links between events/issues. Answers will, for the most part, be well-written and organised. 10-12

Indicative content

Note: This content is not prescriptive and students are not obliged to refer to the material contained in this mark scheme. Any legitimate answer will be assessed on its merits according to the generic levels scheme.

Answers should include a range of reasons as to why Luther was summoned to the Diet of Worms.

Students might include some of the following factors:

- the Emperor Charles V was persuaded by the Elector Frederick of Saxony that it would be a good idea to appear before the Diet
- Charles, from his point of view, was anxious to defuse the situation in which criticism of the Church had become more evident

- Charles felt obligated towards Frederick because the latter had done much to organise his election as Emperor
- Frederick, for a variety of motives, was seeking to defend Luther from his probable fate after the latter had been declared a heretic
- the Church was anxious that Luther should either recant or that his heresy should appear obvious
- the Emperor was under pressure from Pope Leo X to bring Luther under control.

To reach higher levels, students will need to show the inter-relationship of the reasons given. For example, they might link Frederick's motives to the influence which he had over the Emperor.

Question 1

- 02 How far was the spread of the Lutheran Reformation in the years 1521 to 1555 due to Luther's preaching? (24 marks)

Target: AO1(a), AO1(b), AO2(b)

Generic Mark Scheme

- Nothing written worthy of credit. 0
- L1: Answers may either contain some descriptive material which is only loosely linked to the focus of the question or they may address only a part of the question. Alternatively, there may be some explicit comment with little, if any, appropriate support. Answers are likely to be generalised and assertive. There will be little, if any, awareness of differing historical interpretations. The response will be limited in development and skills of written communication will be weak. 1-6
- L2: Answers will show some understanding of the focus of the question. They will either be almost entirely descriptive with few explicit links to the question or they may contain some explicit comment with relevant but limited support. They will display limited understanding of differing historical interpretations. Answers will be coherent but weakly expressed and/or poorly structured. 7-11
- L3: Answers will show a developed understanding of the demands of the question. They will provide some assessment, backed by relevant and appropriately selected evidence, but they will lack depth and/or balance. There will be some understanding of varying historical interpretations. Answers will, for the most part, be clearly expressed and show some organisation in the presentation of material. 12-16
- L4: Answers will show explicit understanding of the demands of the question. They will develop a balanced argument backed by a good range of appropriately selected evidence and a good understanding of historical interpretations. Answers will, for the most part, show organisation and good skills of written communication. 17-21
- L5: Answers will be well-focused and closely argued. The arguments will be supported by precisely selected evidence leading to a relevant conclusion/judgement, incorporating well-developed understanding of historical interpretations and debate. Answers will, for the most part, be carefully organised and fluently written, using appropriate vocabulary. 22-24

Note: This content is not prescriptive and students are not obliged to refer to the material contained in this mark scheme. Any legitimate answer will be assessed on its merits according to the generic levels scheme.

Students should be able to make a judgement by addressing the focus of the question and offering some balance of other factors or views. In 'how important' and 'how successful questions', the answer could be (but does not need to be) exclusively based on the focus of the question.

Factors suggesting the importance of Luther's preaching might include:

- Luther's own prowess and productivity as a preacher did much to convert his listeners and to reinforce faith after conversion
- Luther's Invocavit sermons on his return to Wittenberg did much to ensure that there was a conservative approach to reform, which also endeared his movement to princely authority
- the heard word of preaching was central to the process of religious reform.

Factors suggesting other reasons might include:

- the relatively limited number of people who had direct experience of Luther's preaching which limited the effectiveness of preaching as a medium, especially as Luther himself was restricted because of the Edict of Worms as to where he could preach
- the importance of other forms of dissemination of the Lutheran message, e.g. printing, woodcuts
- weaknesses in the Catholic response, e.g. absence of Emperor, problems created for the Emperor by the Turks, divisions between Emperor and Pope
- political backing for the Lutheran movement, e.g. by princes.

Good answers are likely to show an awareness that the importance of preaching and other factors are not mutually exclusive but could often reinforce each other.

Question 2

- 03 Explain why there was a growth in radical religious movements in the 1520s. (12 marks)

Target: AO1(a), AO1(b)

Generic Mark Scheme

Indicative content

Note: This content is not prescriptive and students are not obliged to refer to the material contained in this mark scheme. Any legitimate answer will be assessed on its merits according to the generic levels scheme.

Answers should include a range of reasons as to why there was a growth in radical ideas.

Students might include some of the following factors:

- the challenge to the Catholic Church posed by Luther and Zwingli weakened authority and hence allowed more radical ideas to take root, which culminated in the emergence of Anabaptism
- the encouragement by the Reformation of personal religious responses stimulated radical thinking
- radicalism, including millenarianism, flourished amidst the social dislocation of the period
- radical leaders such as Thomas Müntzer were able to exploit the religious and political situation
- political fragmentation, particularly in Switzerland, enabled Anabaptist groups to establish themselves.

To reach higher levels, students will need to show the inter-relationship of the reasons given. For example, they might link social dislocation to political fragmentation.

Question 2

- 04 How far was the success of the Reformation in Geneva due to Calvin's religious ideas?
(24 marks)

Target: AO1(a), AO1(b), AO2(b)

Generic Mark Scheme

- Nothing written worthy of credit. 0
- L1: Answers may either contain some descriptive material which is only loosely linked to the focus of the question or they may address only a part of the question. Students should be able to make a judgement by addressing the focus of the question and offering some balance of other factors or views. In 'how important' and 'how successful questions', the answer could be (but does not need to be) exclusively based on the focus of the question.

Factors suggesting the importance of Calvin's religious ideas might include:

- the influence of the clearly organised Institutes in establishing Calvinist theological orthodoxy
- the doctrine of double predestination, which was important in giving many Calvinists a sense of purpose and conviction
- his doctrine of the Eucharist which offered an acceptable compromise between Lutheran ideas and a more radical approach
- the influence of his ideas on church organisation, e.g. through the Consistory
- the dissemination of Calvin's ideas through effective preaching.

Factors suggesting the importance of other factors might include:

- Calvin's increasing political influence in Geneva, including his overcoming of his opponents
- Calvin's wider influence within the Swiss Reformation
- the extent to which the condition of Geneva encouraged reform
- the influence of educational reform and a 'puritanical' social policy.

Good answers are likely to show understanding of the links between Calvin's religious ideas and, for example, his attitude to social policy.

Question 3

05 Explain why Pope Paul III gave his approval to the Jesuits in 1540. (12 marks)

Target: AO1(a), AO1(b)

Generic Mark Scheme

- Nothing written worthy of credit. 0
- L1: Answers will contain either some descriptive material which is only loosely linked to the focus of the question or some explicit comment with little, if any, appropriate support. Indicative content

Note: This content is not prescriptive and students are not obliged to refer to the material contained in this mark scheme. Any legitimate answer will be assessed on its merits according to the generic levels scheme.

Answers should include a range of reasons as to why Paul III officially founded the Society of Jesus in 1540.

Students might include some of the following factors:

- it can be seen in the context of papal sponsorship of reform which sprang out of the publication of the Consilium in 1537
- Paul was completely committed to the movement's ideals
- Loyola had sought papal approbation for his movement (even if he was somewhat reluctant about its conversion into a formal Order)
- the Company of Jesus had attracted the support of influential Catholics, e.g. Contarini
- they had also attracted the support of high-born ladies, e.g. Margaret of Austria, who had married the grandson of Paul III.

To reach higher levels, students will need to show the inter-relationship of the reasons given. For example, they might emphasise the links between Contarini and the movement for reform which arose out of the Consilium.

Question 3

06 How important were the Jesuits to Catholic reform in the years 1540 to 1564? (24 marks)

Target: AO1(a), AO1(b), AO2(b)

Generic Mark Scheme

- Nothing written worthy of credit. 0
- L1: Answers may either contain some descriptive material which is only loosely linked to the focus of the question or they may address only a part of the question. Factors suggesting the importance of the Jesuits might include:

- their role as a missionary movement
- their role in education and other pastoral work
- their role in the support of the papal position in the later stages of the Council of Trent
- the influence of the Spiritual Exercises on Catholic practice
- the influence of leading Jesuits.

Factors suggesting other factors might include:

- the importance of papal influence in bringing about reform
- the importance of reform at the level of individual parishes and dioceses, which had begun before the foundation of the Society and continued afterwards
- the importance of the Council of Trent.
