1. Introduction

1.1 Why choose Cambridge?

University of Cambridge International Examinations (CIE) is the world's largest provider of international qualifications. Around 1.5 million students from 150 countries enter Cambridge examinations every year. What makes educators around the world choose Cambridge?

Recognition

A Cambridge International A or AS Level is recognised around the world by schools, universities and employers. The qualifications are accepted as proof of academic ability for entry to universities worldwide, though some courses do require specific subjects. Cambridge International A Levels typically take two years to complete and offer a flexible course of study that gives students the freedom to select subjects that are right for them. Cambridge International AS Levels often represent the first half of an A Level course but may also be taken as a freestanding qualification. They are accepted in all UK universities and carry half the weighting of an A Level. University course credit and advanced standing is often available for Cambridge International A/AS Levels in countries such as the USA and Canada. Learn more at www.cie.org.uk/recognition.

Support

CIE provides a world-class support service for teachers and exams officers. We offer a wide range of teacher materials to Centres, plus teacher training (online and face-to-face) and student support materials. Exams officers can trust in reliable, efficient administration of exams entry and excellent, personal support from CIE Customer Services. Learn more at www.cie.org.uk/teachers.

Excellence in education

Cambridge qualifications develop successful students. They not only build understanding and knowledge required for progression, but also learning and thinking skills that help students become independent learners and equip them for life.

Not-for-profit, part of the University of Cambridge

CIE is part of Cambridge Assessment, a not-for-profit organisation and part of the University of Cambridge. The needs of teachers and learners are at the core of what we do. CIE invests constantly in improving its qualifications and services. We draw upon education research in developing our qualifications.

1. Introduction

1.2 Why choose Cambridge International A & AS Level History?

Cambridge A & AS Level History gives candidates the opportunity to study the past and develop an understanding of complex historical events and processes. Candidates will gain valuable lifelong skills including:

- assessing different interpretations of an argument
- formulating their own ideas about a subject
- presenting clear, logical arguments
- evaluating historical evidence
- developing an understanding of historical concepts such as cause and effect, similarity and difference and continuity and change.

Cambridge Advanced Level History is one of the most recognised qualifications around the world. It is accepted as proof of academic ability and of historical knowledge and understanding for entry to universities. Every year, thousands of students with Cambridge A Level History win places at good universities worldwide.

1. Introduction

1.3 Cambridge Advanced International Certificate of Education (AICE)

Cambridge AICE is the group award of Cambridge International Advanced Supplementary Level and Advanced Level (AS Level and A Level).

Cambridge AICE involves the selection of subjects from three curriculum areas – Mathematics and Science; Languages; Arts and Humanities.

An A Level counts as a double-credit qualification and an AS Level as a single-credit qualification within the Cambridge AICE award framework. Half-credits are also available in English Language and Literature in English and may be combined to obtain the equivalent of a single credit.

To be considered for an AICE Diploma, a candidate must earn the equivalent of six credits by passing a combination of examinations at either double credit or single credit, with at least one course coming from each of the three curriculum areas.

The examinations are administered in May/June and October/November sessions each year. A candidate working towards the Cambridge AICE Diploma may use up to three sessions to take the equivalent of six credits as long as they are taken within a 13-month period.

History (9697) falls into Group C, Arts and Humanities.

Learn more about AICE at <http://www.cie.org.uk/qualifications/academic/uppersec/aice>.

1.4 How can I find out more?

If you are already a Cambridge Centre

You can make entries for this qualification through your usual channels, e.g. CIE Direct. If you have any queries, please contact us at international@cie.org.uk.

If you are not a Cambridge Centre

You can find out how your organisation can become a Cambridge Centre. Email us at international@cie.org.uk. Learn more about the benefits of becoming a Cambridge Centre at www.cie.org.uk.

2. Assessment at a glance

Availability

This syllabus is examined in the May/June examination session and the October/November examination session.

This syllabus is available to private candidates.

Centres in the UK that receive government funding are advised to consult the CIE website www.cie.org.uk for the latest information before beginning to teach this syllabus.

Combining this with other syllabuses

Candidates can combine this syllabus in an examination session with any other CIE syllabus, except:

- syllabuses with the same title at the same level

3. Syllabus aims and objectives

3.1 Aims

The educational aims of Cambridge A & AS Level History are for candidates to gain historical knowledge, understanding and skills. These aims include:

- developing an interest in the past and an appreciation of human endeavour
- gaining a greater knowledge and understanding of historical periods or themes
- gaining a greater awareness of historical concepts such as similarity and difference, change and continuity, cause and effect
- appreciating the nature and diversity of historical sources available, and the methods used by historians
- exploring a variety of approaches to different aspects of History and different interpretations of particular historical issues
- thinking independently and making informed judgements on issues
- developing empathy with people living in different places and at different times.

Note: the aims are not listed in any order of priority.

3.2 Assessment objectives

To pass Cambridge A & AS Level History, candidates must be able to:

A01: demonstrate an understanding of the complexity of issues and themes within a historical period

A02: distinguish and assess different approaches to, interpretations of, and opinions about the past

A03: express awareness of historical concepts such as change and continuity, cause and effect

A04: present a clear, concise, logical and relevant argument

A05: evaluate and interpret source materials as historical evidence and use them effectively.

A01–4 will be tested in essay questions. No attempt will be made to allocate mark weightings separately to these four objectives.

A05 will be tested in source-based questions.

3. Syllabus aims and objectives

3.3 Scheme of assessment

Essay questions

The essays will be assessed on Assessment Objectives 1–4 (see Section 3). Each essay question will have a weighting of 25 marks.

Candidates' answers should be focused on the question, and show a depth of historical understanding and evidence of reading. In addition, answers should demonstrate a high level of conceptual understanding and/or an evaluation of the assumptions implied in the question. Where candidates are expected to answer in continuous prose, the quality of the language they use will be taken into account in marking. Essay questions will not be set on subject matter selected for source-based study.

Source-based questions

For all papers except Paper 4, a source-based study will be prescribed.

The source-based question will be assessed on Assessment Objective 5 (see Section 3).

The source-based question will have a weighting of 25 marks and will consist of one sub-question. This will present candidates with an assertion which they need to test against given sources and their background knowledge of the issue.

Candidates will be expected to have a sound 'A' Level knowledge of the topic, and be familiar with the kinds of sources available, and the uses to which they can be put. Questions will be based on sources that might be used by historians in building up an account of the period or topic. Candidates will be expected to have an understanding of the ways in which sources may be evaluated.

A maximum of five sources will be set in each source-based question. Differing accounts of the same situation, or accounts from the same source, may be set. These accounts may show different views as time progresses, or in communicating to different recipients.

Note that:

- a variety of sources may be used: for example, documentary, statistical, visual, maps
- both primary and secondary sources may be used
- the sources set will usually total no more than 800 words (or their equivalent where non-written sources are used).

4. Curriculum content

4.1 Paper 1: Modern European History 1789–1939

This paper focuses on the key developments that shaped European History from 1789 to 1939. Candidates study these developments in relation to the wider European context and in the light of broader issues: revolution, nationalism, imperialism, war and totalitarianism. This allows candidates to develop a more holistic understanding of Europe as a region.

Candidates will explore developments through the following themes:

- Theme 1 The French Revolution
- Theme 2 The Industrial Revolution
- Theme 3 Nationalism
- Theme 4 The 'New Imperialism', c. 1870–1900
- Theme 5 The Russian Revolution
- Theme 6 Totalitarianism between the Wars, 1919–39.

Source-based study: The Origins of the First World War, 1870–1914

In this study, candidates will explore how conditions and events in Europe during the period 1870–1914 led to the outbreak of World War I. Candidates will also need to examine the historical controversies on the origins of the war.

Essay topics

Seven questions will be set. There will be one question on each of the following six themes, and one cross-thematic question which will require candidates to draw links or make comparisons across the themes.

Theme 1: The French Revolution

- Pre-revolution conditions, e.g. the Ancien Regime, Absolutism, the Enlightenment
- Causes of revolution
- Developments from 1789 to 1799
- Internal and external opposition to the Revolution
- Political and ideological effects of the Revolution on Europe
- Napoleon Bonaparte: his rise to power, Napoleonic rule.

Theme 2: The Industrial Revolution

Candidates will be expected to have an awareness of the impact of the following developments in Britain, France and Germany:

- Conditions and factors for the rise of the Industrial Revolution, e.g. pre-industrial society, mechanisation, growth of capitalism during the 18th century
- Spread of industrialisation in Europe during the 19th century
- Effects of industrialisation on Europe: political, economic, social and religious.

4. Curriculum content

Theme 3: Nationalism

- Italian Nationalism: conditions in Italy and the 1848 Revolutions; the contributions of Mazzini, Cavour and Garibaldi; unification up to 1871
- German Nationalism: the 1848 Revolutions; Prussia, Bismarck and unification in 1871; relations with other European states to c. 1900
- Significance of the development of nationalism for Europe.

Theme 4: The 'New Imperialism', c. 1870–1900

- Causes of the 'new imperialism', nature of the 'new imperialism', effects on Europe of overseas expansion.

Theme 5: The Russian Revolution

- Pre-revolution conditions: Romanov rule and the nature of Russian society; economic developments and social changes; the emergence of revolutionary groups, Marxism and Leninism
- The 1905 Revolution
- Causes of the Revolutions of 1917
- Developments leading to the establishment of the Bolshevik government, the work and importance of Lenin and Trotsky
- The Bolshevik Revolution and Marxism
- Effects of the Revolution on Europe.

Theme 6: Totalitarianism between the Wars, 1919–39

- Conditions for the rise of totalitarianism: effects of World War I, the Great Depression, the failure of collective security, the failure of democratic government
- Aspects of ideology on theory and practice: leadership and the cult of personality, intolerance of diversity, economic structure, political system
- Totalitarian regimes and foreign relations: ideological influences shaping regimes' perceptions of their roles in the world, conduct of foreign policy
- The rise of Fascism: ideology, Mussolini's rise to power, the Fascist dictatorship
- The rise of Nazism: ideology, Hitler's rise to power, the Nazi dictatorship
- The rise of Stalinism: Stalin's rise to power, the Stalinist dictatorship.

4. Curriculum content

4.2 Paper 2: Southeast Asia – from Colonies to Nations 1870–1980

This paper focuses on three themes:

- Theme 1 Colonial Rule and Impact
- Theme 2 Nationalism, Decolonisation and Independence
- Theme 3 Nation-building.

The themes will be studied in the context of the following:

- the motivation and means behind European overseas expansion
- the ways in which imperial rule was imposed on the colonised peoples
- the rise of nationalist movements
- the end of colonial rule in many parts of Southeast Asia
- the nation-building programmes of Thailand and the independent countries of Southeast Asia.

This paper emphasises cross-comparative studies of Southeast Asian countries during the different stages of their experience between 1870 and 1980. Case studies must be carefully selected by teachers to provide meaningful examples of similarities and differences. Countries which may be studied are:

- Malaysia
- Singapore
- Burma
- Indonesia
- Thailand
- the Philippines
- Vietnam
- Cambodia
- Laos.

Source-based study: The Political Development of Singapore, 1945–65

Candidates should cover:

- Singapore as a Crown Colony, 1946–59
- progress from partial self-government to full self-government, 1955–59
- the State of Singapore, 1959–63
- the merger and formation of Malaysia, 1963
- the separation from Malaysia and the independence of Singapore, 1965.

4. Curriculum content

Essay topics

Seven questions will be set on the themes, as follows:

- | | |
|---|---------------------|
| • Theme 1: Colonial Rule and Impact | Three questions set |
| • Theme 2: Nationalism, Decolonisation and Independence | Two questions set |
| • Theme 3: Nation-building | Two questions set |

Candidates are expected to answer three essay questions.

Essay questions will be thematic. Candidates need to support their answers with examples drawn from at least three countries of the candidate's choice. The questions may also require candidates to draw comparisons between countries. In the topic on Impact of World War II and decolonisation in Southeast Asia (see Theme 2), candidates will not be allowed to draw examples from Singapore to support their answers.

Theme 1: Colonial rule and impact

(a) Establishment of a modern state

- Introduction: motivation and nature of colonial rule ('direct' and 'indirect' rule; 'formal' and 'informal' status); factors which contributed to the type of control and direct government interference; reasons for Siam's success in avoiding colonisation and consequences
- Traditional basis of political legitimacy
- Establishment of secular administration, modernised bureaucracy and judiciary; political centralisation; the non-representative nature of colonial rule; results of bureaucratic centralisation
- Effects on local states and local people (including education)
- Colonial initiatives to allow indigenous participation; results

- Arguments for and against international aid and the role of multi-national corporations.

4.4 Paper 4: The History of Tropical Africa 1855–1914

This paper covers a period of rapid change in African history, with an African rather than an imperial perspective, although candidates must continue to expect questions on European activities in Africa. The questions on the paper are likely to be on the following areas of historical interest:

- The organisation and policies of African states and chiefdoms, with particular reference to their reactions in the pre-colonial period to changing forms of trade, warfare, religious beliefs, external pressure and internal opposition.
- The changing relations between Africans and Europeans which led up to the partition of Africa.
- African reactions to the partition and initial colonial conquest, as individuals and as societies.
- European methods of colonial rule, economic exploitation, and missionary or other education, with their effects on African societies.
- African reactions to colonial rule before 1914 in economic, political, social and religious spheres, with their effects on colonial policy.
- Growth of nationalism and the beginning of African organisations, welfare, trade unions, political.

In all these areas of interest, candidates must be prepared to make reasoned comparisons of the differing situations, developments and personalities within the three broad geographical divisions of Eastern, Western and Central Africa.

4. Curriculum content

4.5 Paper 5: The History of the USA c. 1840–1968

This paper focuses on key developments that transformed the USA from an isolated agrarian society to the world's leading superpower in terms of economic strength, military power, political and diplomatic influence, and cultural and social impact on other nations and peoples. The themes are:

- Theme 1 Westward Expansion and the Taming of the West, c. 1840–96

- Theme 6 The USA's Rise as a World Power, 1890–1945
- Theme 7 Social Developments, 1945–68

Source-based study: The Road to Secession and Civil War, 1846–61

This topic focuses on the reasons for the breakdown of consensus regarding the American Union, between the end of the Mexican War and the outbreak of Civil War in April 1861.

Candidates must study the protracted arguments as to whether slavery should be allowed to expand into the new territories acquired by the USA, and understand why this was such an intractable problem. They need to be familiar with the unsuccessful attempts to find a stable basis for compromise. They also need to look at the shifting political alignments of the period, and the debate on whether states were entitled to secede from the United States.

Particular attention should be paid to:

- the evolving views of the leading political figures of the period, such as Cobb, Calhoun, Douglas, Seward and Lincoln
- the key crises of 1848–50 and 1860–1
- differing historiographical interpretations of the sectional conflict.

4.6 Paper 6: Caribbean History 1794–1900

In this paper, candidates need to compare the movements for the abolition of slavery in the British, Danish, Dutch, French and Spanish-colonised Caribbean from 1794 to 1900. They will also need to compare the impact of emancipation on these areas.

This pan-Caribbean focus is informed by the need for candidates in a rapidly changing Caribbean, where integration and the imperatives of globalisation are being adopted as guiding principles, to move away from a narrow concept of Caribbean History as ‘British Caribbean History’. The adoption of a trans-imperial focus in the study of emancipation and post-slavery societies will facilitate a more holistic approach and destabilise the compartmentalised view of Caribbean History. A comparative study of the British, Danish, Dutch, French and Spanish Caribbean, above all, will reveal the similarities in colonialisms, regardless of the imperial power.

Candidates are also expected to be familiar with the ideological framework for conquest and colonisation in the region. This will enable them to understand the mentalities that determined economic, social and political relations in the region. Finally, candidates are expected to understand the ways in which race, class, colour and gender functioned to influence the experiences of colonised Caribbean people over the whole post-slavery period.

The paper focuses on seven themes:

- Theme 1 Movements towards Emancipation
- Theme 2 The Transition from Enslavement to Freedom
- Theme 3 Adjustments to Emancipation
- Theme 4 The Rise of Peasantries
- Theme 5 The Sugar Industry, the Plantation Economy and Immigrant Labourers
- Theme 6 Post-Slavery Caribbean Societies: Education, Health, Inter-Ethnic and Gender Relations, and Social Control
- Theme 7 Government, Politics and Constitutional changes

Source-based study: Emancipation and its Consequences

The source-based study will introduce candidates to the ideas of nineteenth-century writers and officials who shaped policies for the Caribbean, as well as the controversies and debates which took place over key issues affecting the region. The study will focus on:

Emancipation (including Haiti);

- Apprenticeship (to include patronato, free birth, free womb, and Code Rural)
- The future of the Caribbean economy, including sugar
- The labour force for plantations, including immigration
- The development of the peasantry
- The development and aims of education.

Essay Topics

Seven essay questions will be set, one on each of the themes:

Theme 1: Movements towards Emancipation

This section concerns the factors/forces which brought about abolition. A key issue is the respective roles of humanitarian fervour, resistance of the enslaved, political developments and economic forces. Candidates will be expected to understand the role of gender in the emancipation movements, particularly in the British abolition movement where the condition of enslaved women formed a part of the emancipatory rhetoric. These factors should be studied comparatively for the British, Danish, Dutch, French and Spanish colonised Caribbean, though questions set in the examination will not necessarily cover all of these territories.

Specific content:

- Revolution and emancipation in Haiti
- Emancipation in the British, Danish, Dutch, French and Spanish colonised Caribbean.

Theme 2: The Transition from Enslavement to Freedom

This section concerns the transitional periods between slavery and full freedom which were implemented in all territories, except the French colonies. Candidates should study the similarities and differences of these systems/regimes, and evaluate the degree to which they succeeded.

Specific content:

- Post-slavery regimes imposed by several leaders in Haiti
- Experiments of Toussaint (fermage, etc), Moise, Sonthonax (cultivateur proportionnaire), Dessalines, Christophe, etc
- Apprenticeship in the British and Dutch Caribbean
- Free birth/free womb in the Danish Caribbean
- Patronato in Cuba
- Regimen de contratacion in Puerto Rico.

Theme 3: Adjustments to Emancipation

This section concerns the contradictory expectations of the free society amongst freedpeople and former owners of enslaved people. The legislation which ended slavery hinted at revolutionary changes in Caribbean society. It transformed the legal status of the majority of the population by abolishing property in persons, and altered the labour base of the community by substituting a wage labour system for unpaid chattel enslavement. Freedpeople, conscious of what freedom meant for them, proceeded to actualise this freedom, exercising choice in whom they worked for, and where they worked, and bargaining for respectable wages. Former owners, however, were not too willing to surrender their slavery mentalities and tried to frustrate freedpeople's expectations of freedom.

4. Curriculum content

Specific content:

- Freedpeople's expectations of 'full free'
- Freedpeople's options after the abolition of slavery
- Employers' expectations of post-slavery society
- Labour relations/conflicts over work and wages (with examples of protests)
- The movement off the estates, including to towns and other territories, and debates over what caused this labour mobility
- Class legislation and efforts to curtail mobility and control labour, e.g. classification of people as vagabonds and placing them in ateliers de discipline, and requiring passports in French colonies, contracts, Masters and Servants Act, police force.

Theme 4: The Rise of Peasantries

This section concerns the rise of the peasantry, its growth and degree of success, its impact on the plantation, and the efforts of the planters to defeat the peasantry through the use of immigrant labourers. It also examines why some territories were more favourable than others for the rise of the peasantry, and why some freedmen and freedwomen had to combine peasant activities with part-time plantation labour. For many of the freed people, freedom meant access to land by any means possible, and the pursuit of independent economic activities. For the traditional plantocracy, it meant using coerced labour to continue the plantation system.

Specific content:

- The proto-peasantry during slavery
- Access to land after the abolition of slavery: methods of acquisition and factors which determined access (which territories were most/least favourable for the formation of the post-slavery peasantry?)
- Characteristics of the Caribbean peasantry (territorial examples)
- Contributions of the peasantry to Caribbean economy and society
- Plantations and peasantries: impact of each on the other.

Theme 5: The Sugar Industry, the Plantation Economy and Immigrant Labourers

This section concerns the crises which faced the sugar industry in the various territories where that industry was dominant. It assesses the effectiveness of planters' solutions, including the results of their use of immigrant labourers. The reluctance, and in many cases refusal, of freed people to continue in a capital-labour relationship with former owners, and tie themselves to plantation labour full-time, led the plantocracy to lobby for imported labour to maintain the plantation economy, and ultimately, the plantation system. But the use of immigration was just one of the several strategies used to continue the sugar industry.

4. Curriculum content

Specific content:

- Planters' perceptions of a 'labour crisis'
- Efforts to secure native/creole labour internally (within each territory and within the region)
- Immigrant labourers (Africans, Chinese, Indians, etc); how they were obtained, voyages to the Caribbean, composition (age, gender, caste, etc), experiences
- Crises in the sugar industry in the 19th century; free trade, competition posed to the BWI, etc.
- Immigration and the revival/expansion/maintenance of the sugar plantations
- Other strategies to maintain/revive/expand the sugar industry; metayage, Encumbered Estates Court Act, new markets, new owners, new technologies, etc.
- Inability of sugar estates in some territories to remain viable, and the move to non-sugar crops/industries.

Theme 6: Post-Slavery Caribbean Societies: Education, Health, Inter-Ethnic and Gender Relations, and Social Control

This section concerns the movement towards the assumption of responsibility by central government in post-slavery societies for social policies designed to enhance the public good. The local elites were not all enthusiastic about public policies designed to improve the conditions of freedpeople. This is demonstrated in attitudes towards education and the provision of health facilities. Where education was provided, it was designed as a means of social control and in the BWI was largely in the hands of missionaries/churches. Health facilities improved considerably where territories imported immigrants and had to assume responsibility for their welfare. A part of the emancipated population used education as a way of upward social mobility, so that class formation was a feature of post-slavery Caribbean history. The lingering ideologies of the slavery era meant that race tensions persisted, and inter-ethnic tensions strengthened with the arrival of new groups with their own prejudices. Yet Caribbean society also took tentative steps towards racial integration/harmony, with racial and cultural mixing between immigrants and creoles. All ethnic groups that made up Caribbean societies tried to maintain their culture. Some did so without interference from the state, others had to resist state/elite efforts to suppress cultural practices. Social tensions therefore developed over the manifestation of 'cultural imperialism'.

Specific content:

- Provisions for education for the masses in post-slavery Caribbean societies (state versus private/benevolent providers)
- Attitude of the masses towards educational provisions (education as social control, especially missionary-controlled/religious, industrial education)
- Education and the rise of the Black/Coloured middle classes
- Health facilities in post-slavery Caribbean societies
- The role of race/racism and colour in post-slavery Caribbean societies (discrimination on the basis of class, race, colour)

4. Curriculum content

- Gender ideologies and their practical manifestations (e.g. patriarchal societies' notion of a 'proper gender order')
- Inter-ethnic relations (e.g. between Asians and African-Caribbeans)
- Culture and 'cultural imperialism' (e.g. efforts to suppress obeah, myal, cabildos de nacion and Abakua secret societies in Cuba).

Theme 7: Government, Politics and Constitutional Changes

With the collapse of slave systems, former slave owners (except in Haiti) were able to retain control of the state in order to maintain their interests at the expense of the emancipated. They tried to prevent the emergence of popular democratising methods and systems of political organisation and praxis. African-Caribbean people, however, challenged aggressively the established order. Though the majority of people lacked the vote in the BWI, for example, they tried other means to destabilise the ruling elite and force constitutional changes. Haiti achieved, and sought to consolidate, independence in the period. The French Antilles emerged eventually as overseas departments of France; and the Spanish islands came increasingly under the control of the USA. Cuba and Puerto Rico, for example, fought for liberation from Spanish colonialism, but found themselves under the political control of the USA. This section will study these political developments/processes.

Specific content:

- The struggle for political autonomy in 19th century Haiti (power struggle among leaders; attitude of external powers to Haitian independence)
- The attempt of Blacks and Coloureds in the BWI to win the franchise
- Attitudes of officials in the Colonial Office, and of local elites, to Black enfranchisement under the Old Representative System
- Popular revolts: 'Angel Gabriel Riots' in Guyana in 1856, Morant Bay rebellion in Jamaica, Confederation Riots of 1876 in Barbados, etc
- Constitutional changes in the BWI (e.g. the change to Crown Colony where ORS used to exist, except Barbados)
- Women's disenfranchisement and their alternative political activities
- Political status/rights of freedpeople in the FWI to 1900; continued political relations with France
- Blacks' attitude to assimilation
- Exclusionary electoral law of 1882 in Cuba; political status of Afro-Cubans after end of patronato, Blacks' roles in the movement for independence from Spain in Cuba and Puerto Rico vis-à-vis role of white creoles
- Political status of freedpeople in the Danish Caribbean to 1900
- Political status of freedpeople in the Dutch Caribbean to 1900.

6. Additional information

6.1 Guided learning hours

Advanced Level ('A Level') syllabuses are designed on the assumption that candidates have about 360 guided learning hours per subject over the duration of the course. Advanced Subsidiary Level ('AS Level') syllabuses are designed on the assumption that candidates have about 180 guided learning hours per subject over the duration of the course. ('Guided learning hours' include direct teaching and any other supervised or directed study time. They do not include private study by the candidate.)

However, these figures are for guidance only, and the number of hours required may vary according to local curricular practice and the candidates' prior experience of the subject.

6.2 Recommended prior learning

We recommend that candidates who are beginning this course should have previously completed an O Level or IGCSE course in History or the equivalent.

6.3 Progression

Cambridge International A Level History provides a suitable foundation for the study of History or related courses in higher education. Equally it is suitable for candidates intending to pursue careers or further study in Arts, Humanities and Social Science related areas (such as Law), or as part of a course of general education.

Cambridge International AS Level History constitutes the first half of the Cambridge International A Level course in History and therefore provides a suitable foundation for the study of History at A Level and thence for related courses in higher education. Depending on local university entrance requirements, it may permit or assist progression directly to university courses in History or some other subjects. It is also suitable for candidates intending to pursue careers or further study in Arts, Humanities and Social Science related areas, or as part of a course of general education.

6.4 Component codes

Because of local variations, in some cases component codes will be different in instructions about making entries for examinations and timetables from those printed in this syllabus, but the component names will be unchanged to make identification straightforward.

6. Additional information

6.5 Grading and reporting

A Level results are shown by one of the grades A*, A, B, C, D or E indicating the standard achieved, Grade A* being the highest and Grade E the lowest. 'Ungraded' indicates that the candidate has failed to reach the standard required for a pass at either A Level or AS Level. 'Ungraded' will be reported on the statement of results but not on the certificate.

If a candidate takes an A Level and fails to achieve grade E or higher, an AS Level grade will be awarded if both of the following apply:

- the components taken for the A Level by the candidate in that session included all the components making up an AS Level
- the candidate's performance on these components was sufficient to merit the award of an AS Level grade.

For languages other than English, CIE also reports separate speaking endorsement grades (Distinction, Merit and Pass), for candidates who satisfy the conditions stated in the syllabus.

Percentage uniform marks are also provided on each candidate's Statement of Results to supplement their grade for a syllabus. They are determined in this way:

- A candidate who obtains...
 - ... the minimum mark necessary for a Grade A* obtains a percentage uniform mark of 90%.
 - ... the minimum mark necessary for a Grade A obtains a percentage uniform mark of 80%.
 - ... the minimum mark necessary for a Grade B obtains a percentage uniform mark of 70%.
 - ... the minimum mark necessary for a Grade C obtains a percentage uniform mark of 60%.
 - ... the minimum mark necessary for a Grade D obtains a percentage uniform mark of 50%.
 - ... the minimum mark necessary for a Grade E obtains a percentage uniform mark of 40%.
 - ... no marks receives a percentage uniform mark of 0%.

Candidates whose mark is none of the above receive a percentage mark in between those stated according to the position of their mark in relation to the grade 'thresholds' (i.e. the minimum mark for obtaining a grade). For example, a candidate whose mark is halfway between the minimum for a Grade C and the minimum for a Grade D (and whose grade is therefore D) receives a percentage uniform mark of 55%.

The uniform percentage mark is stated at syllabus level only. It is not the same as the 'raw' mark obtained by the candidate, since it depends on the position of the grade thresholds (which may vary from one session to another and from one subject to another) and it has been turned into a percentage.

6. Additional information

AS Level results are shown by one of the grades a, b, c, d or e indicating the standard achieved, Grade a being the highest and Grade e the lowest. 'Ungraded' indicates that the candidate has failed to reach the standard required for a pass at AS Level. 'Ungraded' will be reported on the statement of results but not on the certificate.

For languages other than English, CIE will also report separate speaking endorsement grades (Distinction, Merit and Pass) for candidates who satisfy the conditions stated in the syllabus.

The content and difficulty of an AS Level examination is equivalent to the first half of a corresponding A Level.

Percentage uniform marks are also provided on each candidate's Statement of Results to supplement their grade for a syllabus. They are determined in this way:

- A candidate who obtains...
 - ... the minimum mark necessary for a Grade a obtains a percentage uniform mark of 80%.
 - ... the minimum mark necessary for a Grade b obtains a percentage uniform mark of 70%.
 - ... the minimum mark necessary for a Grade c obtains a percentage uniform mark of 60%.
 - ... the minimum mark necessary for a Grade d obtains a percentage uniform mark of 50%.
 - ... the minimum mark necessary for a Grade e obtains a percentage uniform mark of 40%.
 - ... no marks receives a percentage uniform mark of 0%.

Candidates whose mark is none of the above receive a percentage mark in between those stated according to the position of their mark in relation to the grade 'thresholds' (i.e. the minimum mark for obtaining a grade). For example, a candidate whose mark is halfway between the minimum for a Grade c and the minimum for a Grade d (and whose grade is therefore d) receives a percentage uniform mark of 55%.

The uniform percentage mark is stated at syllabus level only. It is not the same as the 'raw' mark obtained by the candidate, since it depends on the position of the grade thresholds (which may vary from one session to another and from one subject to another) and it has been turned into a percentage.
